Supreme Court

7 justices

This is Oregon's highest court. If someone believes the Court of Appeals or Tax Court made a mistake, they may seek review here. The Supreme Court selects which of these cases to review and decide. This court also hears direct appeals in death penalty cases, and cases about ballot measure titles and attorney discipline. The only court that may reverse or modify a decision of this court is the U.S. Supreme Court.

Court of Appeals

13 judges

This is Oregon's intermediate appellate court. If someone appeals their case because they believe the circuit court made a mistake, the case goes here. This court also hears appeals from administrative agencies. It ranks as one of the busiest appellate courts in the nation.

Tax Court

1 judge, 3 magistrates

All cases related to state tax laws go here.

Circuit Courts

181 judges in 27 judicial districts

These are trial courts that handle all types of criminal and civil cases (except for tax cases). Most cases are addressed here — about 583,000 each year.

Circuit Courts

- ▶ A circuit court exists in every county. They're often located in the county courthouse, although they are not county courts — they are state courts.
- ▶ Circuit courts are trial courts, where cases are decided by a judge or jury.

Oregon's 27 Judicial Districts

Some districts contain just one county, and some have more than one.
