Appellate eFile and Public Portal Account

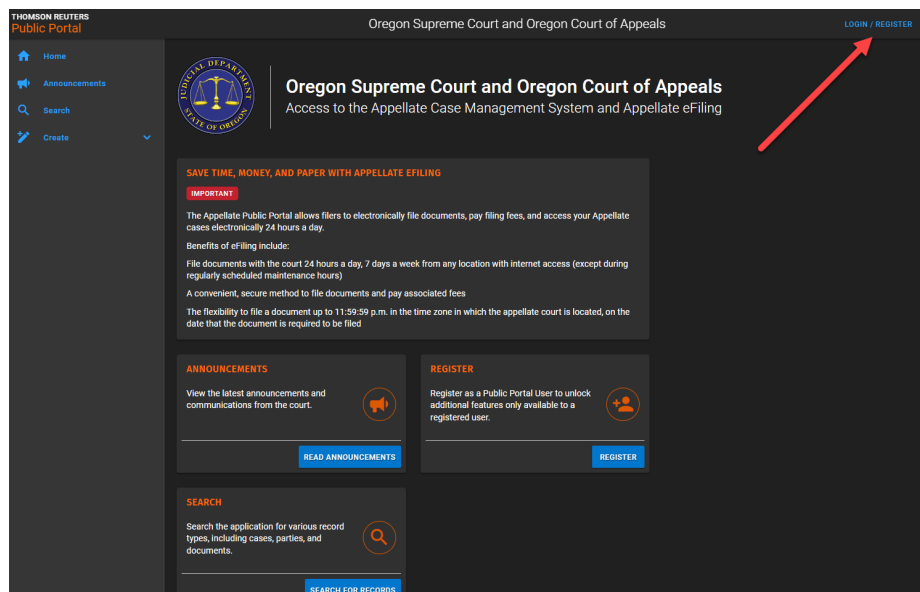

This document provides instructions for registering and electronically filing documents in the appellate courts and accessing case information available to the public. There are two types of user accounts that may file:

- Attorney – any member of the Oregon State Bar may sign up for an Attorney user account. Registered attorney users are provided access to the register of actions of any public case available through the system, access to all their cases where they are the attorney of record (including documents), the ability to electronically file documents, and be eServed.
- Public – any member of the public, such as pro se filers, landlords/tenants, or process servers may sign up for a Public user account. This level of access provides access to the register of actions of any public case available through the system and the ability to electronically file. This level of access does not provide access to documents. Self-represented parties may request specific case access to their own case where they may view documents, electronically file new documents, and be eServed.

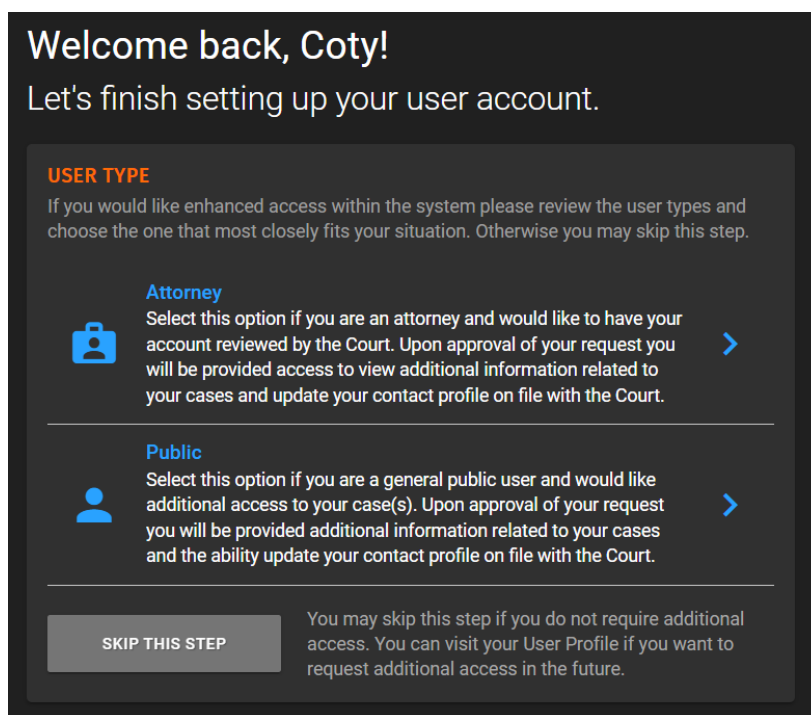

Note: Anyone can view the register of actions of any public case available through our system without registering or logging into the system.

Request Case Access is a feature that allows self-represented litigants and parties the ability to link their user account with their case record in the case management system. This level of access will provide the party with document access on their case.

What is Request Attorney Access?

Request Attorney Access allows an attorney to link their user account with their attorney record in the case management system. This level of access will provide the attorney access to all cases and documents in which they are the attorney of record. It also allows them to be eServed through the system.

How does case and document access work in the system?

There are five levels of user access in the portal, users may have one or more of these access levels associated with their account.

- 1) Anonymous User (no user account): A user that is not logged into the system can search for public cases and view the register of actions on those cases.

- 3) Verified Public User (Registered User): This is a registered user that is also a self-represented party that has an account and has requested and received case access to their cases. This user may eFile, search and view the register of actions on all public cases and view their cases and documents. A self-represented litigant can request access to their cases through the Request Case Access process.
- 4) Verified Attorney: This is a registered user that is an attorney that has requested and received Attorney Access through the system. A Verified Attorney may eFile and view the register of actions on all public cases. This user also has access to all cases and documents in which the user is the attorney of record.

eFiling

Is eFiling mandatory?

eFiling is mandatory for active Oregon State Bar (OSB) members. eFiling is not required for self-represented parties.

Are there fees for using the eFiling system?

No. It is free to use the electronic filing system. There may be statutory filing fees associated with filing an appeal or a motion that you may be required to pay.

If I do not have an attorney and am self-represented, can I eFile?

Yes! Register for a public account and navigate to the left-side menu and click Create and then New Filing.

Will paralegals and other support staff be able to eFile or receive system notices?

Yes. We suggest support staff create their own public account to file. Support staff may use an attorneys' account to file. From the attorneys' account, support staff may be copied on all notifications. This setting can be access through User Profile by clicking on the user's name.

How do I electronically serve a party?

If the opposing party is registered for a portal account, they may be served through the portal. When you file a document, one of the steps is to select how you are serving the other parties on the case. If the party can receive service through the portal, there will be a check mark next to their name under eService.

If there is a technical problem with the eFiling system, how will it affect the timeliness of my filing?

If there is a technical problem that prevents the court from receiving your eFiling, the court may permit the filing date of the document to relate back to the date you first attempted to file the document electronically. For this to occur, the filer must submit satisfactorily proof of the issue, per ORAP 16.25(4). Issues related to your equipment, hardware, software, or otherwise within your control will not excuse an untimely filing.

When are documents considered filed by the court?

A document will be considered filed when it is received by the eFiling system. When court staff accept your filing, the date and time of the filing entered in the register will date back to the time the document was received by the eFiling system. The court will consider documents filed at 11:59 p.m. on the document due date to be timely, however, eFilers are encouraged to file documents well before that time to avoid potential issues.

How long will it take for my eFiling to be accepted by the court?

All filings will be reviewed as soon as practically possible, timing depends on court workload, staffing, and whether there is a court closure due to the weekend or a holiday.

When is technical support available for eFiling?

The Help Desk is available 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday (excluding court closure days) at (503) 986-5582.

How will I know if the eFiling system is not available?

OJD will post information about the availability of eFiling on the Appellate eFile webpage and on the portal homepage.

What document format is accepted?

Any original document submitted to the court must be in a Portable Document Format (PDF) and allow for text searching, copying, and pasting. It must not be larger than 25 megabytes.

How will I know I have successfully filed a document using the new system?

Filers will receive several confirmation emails with the same reference number. The filer will receive a Submitted email when the filing is submitted, and then a Received email when the court receives the filing. When the filing is Accepted or Rejected by the court, the filer will receive a final email.
