

Workshop

Saturday, June 22, 2019 12:30 PM- 1:00 PM

Registration Notes:

This is an optional forum, no credits will be awarded for participating.

Kelly Mills, OJD's Court Language Access Services Program Manager will join us at this year's conference! On Saturday, June 22nd from 12:30-1:00 PM, she will be offering an optional, informal gathering with interested interpreters to listen to concerns and receive feedback. She will also be in attendance and available on breaks during the conference. Since 2007, Kelly oversees the interpreter credentialing program, daily language access operations, policy development, and strategic planning for Language Access at the Oregon Judicial Department. You likely interact with many of her 20 staff, located at six offices statewide. Court Language Access Services staff include staff interpreters, a supervisor, coordinators, analysts and billing and office management staff. She worked closely with OSTI in 2013 to gain a certified hourly rate increase and annual adjustments since then. Bring your questions, your kudos, or just let her know important things that are happening in your world.
